This cause came to be heard before the undersigned Superior Court Judge, upon Plaintiff's motion for final judgment, and it further appearing to the Court and the Court finding as fact that:

1. 2. This condemnation action is taken by Orange County ("County") to promote the public safety and welfare, to provide for construction and installation of a sanitary sewer line for the Historic Rogers Road area of Orange County, North Carolina.

The County and its agents, successors, and assigns agree to comply with industry standards for placing manholes in future streets on Defendant's property, while acknowledging that rim elevations of manholes may be adjusted by a developer to accommodate potential roads when actual road design is completed.
  - b. Sewer lines shall be placed on the condemned property in such a manner that future installation of water lines within the sewer easement area shall be possible. The County or its agents, successors, or assigns, shall conduct final site plan review, and shall determine the location of water mains to serve future development on Defendant's property, while acknowledging that the site plan may dictate the necessity of a new water easement based on the development plan.
  - c. If Defendant's property is developed in the future and the developer of the property relocates the existing water line and dedicates a new water easement, the County, or its agent, successor, or assign, shall release the previously existing water easement.
  - d. Sewer installation on Defendant's property shall be accomplished in a manner which will allow for future NC DOT-approvable road access without modification, other than to the grade and/or elevation of manholes.
  - e. The County shall duly record this Final Consent Judgment, when fully executed, in the Orange County Register of Deeds.
6. All parties have agreed to final disposition of this matter on the terms described in this Consent Judgment.
